him on the table and his lips were closely pressed together.

HIS POOR MEMORY.

"You were suffering?" thundered Mr. Weeks. "Why did you go to see Mr. Youm?" "I don't know," answered the witness blankly.

NO ONE SAW HIM TAKE IT.

Q. And you took the address home with you? A. Yes, in my overcoat pocket, as I remember it. Q. And you got it for Dr. Hitchcock? A. Yes.

OSBORNE INCENSED.

Mr. Weeks read from the testimony before the coroner in which the witness admitted that on Dec. 23, the day before the poison package was received, he sent to Park Row near the Post-Office a sharp interchange of objections by Mr. Osborne and exceptions by Mr. Weeks ensued.

SUSPECTS CORNISH?

"Oh, then Mr. Cornish is the person you accuse," said Mr. Osborne. "I'm glad to know it, I thought it was Mr. Adams."

ADAMS SUSPECTED MOLI-NEUX.

"So Mr. Adams conveyed to you this first impression of the name?" "Yes," was the answer. Q. Mr. Cornish, in the month of December did you ask any questions about buying books on chemistry? A. Never in my life.

THE REDIRECT.

"Can I call this witness back," asked Mr. Osborne, "when I find an exhibit in the case?" "If you have any questions you must ask them now," said the Recorder.

MOLINEUX PLEASED.

When Cornish admitted he had seen a letter to Col. Gardner in his opinion in the letters signed "H. Cornish" were written by Felix Gallagher the name of the accused man relaxed and made his first of the morning-coming to him.

taking the things home? A. No, only I happened to think about it.

Q. And was the label on the bottle clean or soiled? A. I can't say.

JURORS' QUESTIONS.

"When did you notice the envelope in the box?" asked Juror No. 1. Mr. Foster. "When I was put there to throw it away."

GOFF'S QUERIES.

"Where did you get your nightgown?" asked the Recorder. "I got it out of my mail-box," answered Cornish.

FELIX J. GALLAGHER.

The next name called created a stir in the crowded room. It was that of Felix J. Gallagher, H. was a stockbroker in Wall street.

HARRY A. KING CALLED.

Harry A. King was then called to the stand, and had just taken his seat when the name of King was called.

HOW HE ESCAPED DEATH.

Q. You know Mr. King? A. Yes. Q. Where you saw him? A. Dec. 23. Q. Did you see Cornish there? A. Yes.

THE POISON PACKAGE.

Q. Did you see anything in the package? A. Yes, I saw a small paper with a name on it. Q. What name?

FINNERAN CALLED.

Patrick J. Finneran was the next witness. He is very tall, very dark, and has a black mustache and a square jaw.

person package, he went ahead confidently and without visible embarrassment.

Q. When did it first occur to you that the box had been sent to you with criminal intent? A. Not until Friday, Dec. 23.

CORNISH'S ILLNESS.

Q. Did you see Cornish on the night of the 23rd? A. Yes, I heard he was ill. Q. How many stamps were there on the box? A. Five.

WHAT AUTOPSY REVEALED.

"On my first visit to the house," said the witness, "I received an envelope, in which was the address, the bottle and the silver holder."

THE POISON ODOR.

Q. You smell the bottle? A. Yes. Q. Of a marked odor? A. Yes. Q. Of a pungent odor? A. Yes.

MOLINEUX AND HARPSTER.

CATARRH OF THE HEAD AND THROAT.

Yes, we have now come to the rate plan.

In the literal fulfillment of the rate plan it is herewith given. The lowest rate ever known before this somewhat startling plan was projected—lower rate than will ever be given again—is simply given because it is due and promised, and being due and promised, it belongs to the people.

CATARRH OF THE BRONCHIAL TUBES.

This condition often results from Catarrh extending from the head and throat. If left unchecked it extends down the windpipe into the bronchial tubes and in time attacks the lungs.

CATARRH OF THE EAR TROUBLES.

Deafness and ear troubles often result from Catarrh passing along the Eustachian tube that leads from the throat to the ear.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

This condition may result from several causes, but the usual cause is Catarrh, the mucus dropping down into the throat and being swallowed.
